DOGS FROM California, Washington and Idaho competed in field trials in the Success Lake Sportsmen's area over the past weekend, with the event sponsored by the Central Valley Bird Dog club, headed by Ralph Bodlev, of Visalia. The three top photos show the "break-away", with Katydid, owned by Norman Johnson of Visalia, and Dolly, owned by John Mullins, of Bakersfield, starting 30 minutes of work; judges and handlers follow the dogs on horseback; and a group returning to the starting point, with the northeast slope of Rocky Hill in the background. Left lower photo is of Pat and Frankie Cascearo, with the pointer, Cashew's King, owned by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cascearo, of Stockton; right lower photo is of Bob Foster, from Bremerton, Washington, with his Nicki's Arko, a rare breed of Hungarian Vizsla. The dogs were worked on pheasants, raised and planted for the trials, by the Bird Dog club; the pheasants are left in the field after the dogs have worked them. Bodley states that other field trials will be held in the area - possibly the regional Gun Dog championships early in March, when dogs from the entire western states area will compete.

BIRD DOG FIELD TRIALS BRING NEW ACTIVITY TO SUCCESS LAKE AREA

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 18 — A new activity for the Success Lake Sportsmen's area was in evidence over the weekend — bird dog field trials conducted by the Central Valley Bird Dog club, headed by Ralph Bodley, of Visalia.

Field dogs from throughout California, and from Idaho and Washington, were entered in the trials, the dogs working in braces, with 30 minutes allowed for the competitive run.

Judging in field trials is on a basis of the number of birds a dog points in the allotted time, how the dog applies himself on the ground, and the fine points of style as he works and points.

When a dog goes on point, his handler flushes the bird, then fires a blank from a pistol; the dog is supposed to hold the point even after the shot — not all did, however, and handlers on horseback sometimes took after dogs, as dogs took after flushed birds.

Pheasants, raised by the club, were used in the trials, the birds being spotted in cover for the dogs to find. No birds were

Coop. Dehydrator For Prunes Is Being Considered

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 18 — Plans for construction of a co-operative prune dehydrator by growers of Tulare county is being seriously considered, following a meeting of interested growers several days ago. The dehydrator, as presently being discussed, would be in the southeastern Tulare county area.

Guido Lombardi, who is heading a committee of growers, states that about 3,000 green tons of prunes are presently available in the area, with this figure to probably increase to some 5,000 tons

Bill Alexander Will Discuss East Side Water Project At Fifth Annual Dinner Of Poplar Chamber

POPLAR, Jan. 18 — "Water Problems of California and the East Side Canal" will be the topic of W. A. "Bill" Alexander, speaker for the fifth annual banquet of the Poplar chamber of commerce, January 25, at 7:00 p.m. Alexander is a member and the spokesman for the State Water board, and former manager for Lower Tule Irrigation district.

The Poplar Methodist church will be the locale of the banquet, with ladies of the church preparing the food. Morris Fruit will direct the serving, assisted by a number of young people of the Poplar area.

General chairman is the chamber president, Howard Tharp, with Hack Hutchinson acting as chairman of the ticket committee. Decorations are in charge of Mrs. H. Hutchinson and Mrs. Arlie Cates.

Proceeds from this annual dinner, and from the Fall barbecues held each year, are used to support the Tule River Youth center, and to help pay for and improve the baseball field in Poplar. At the present time the chamber is devoting attention to a building fund for a new grandstand. Restrooms, storage and concession areas are now complete as well as the lighting of the baseball diamond. Other community organizations are assisting in improvement of the Youth center, including a drinking fountain by the Pleasant View 4-H club, and planter boxes by the Rockford 4-H club.

Those who wish to attend the banquet are urged to get tickets in advance from Hutchinson, members of the Poplar chamber, or at the Poplar Post office, since a capacity crowd is anticipated.

PUBLIC INVITED TO MARCH OF DIMES DINNER AT SPRINGVILLE, SUNDAY; SERVING FROM NOON UNTIL 8 P.M.

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 18—Springville will again play host at its annual March of Dimes dinner, set for Sunday, January 21, at the Memorial building, with serving to be continuous from 12, noon, until 8 p.m. The public is invited.

The event is sponsored by the Springville Lions club; much of the food is donated; all kitchen and serving service is donated; all profits go to the March of Dimes.

Dinner tickets, available at the door, are two dollars for adults; one dollar for children. Last year some 600 persons were served, with the dinner returning about $900 to the March of Dimes fund.

For the past several years the day of the dinner has been marked by rain, and Springville Lions promise that they will do their best to repeat again on this score.

Bankrupt Sale For Sierra Farm And Home Supply

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 18—Bankrupt sale at 10:30 o'clock on February 1 will end the business life of Sierra Farm and Home Supply company, a Porterville firm that was organized by local-area farmers about three years ago.

Real property, stock in trade and equipment of the business will be sold to the highest bidder; the premise will be open for inspection from 8:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. on February 1. Rights are reserved to reject any and all bids and to continue or postpone the sale.

William A. McGugin is the referee in bankruptcy, 513 Security Bank building, 1061 Fulton street, Fresno.

SPEAKER TONIGHT at annual Terra Bella chamber of commerce banquet will be Dr. E. Ezra Ellia, minister of the First Friends church, in Whittier; his subject will be "Space Age Speculations." Carl Smith will serve as master of ceremonies; the Madrigal Singers, from Porterville high school, under the direction of Arthur Huff, will entertain. A roast turkey dinner will be served by the Terra Bella Women's Improvement club.

BILL ALEXANDER, of Porterville, member of the state water rights board, who will speak January 25 at annual banquet of the Poplar chamber of commerce, his subject dealing with the East Side Water project and other state water matters. Alexander was formerly with the bureau of reclamation, then served as engineer for the Lower Tule Irrigation district.

Editorial Comment

WE AGREE AND DISAGREE

Statement by city of Porterville employees regarding a retirement plan — carried in the adjacent column — makes certain points with which we agree and others with which we strongly disagree.

We agree with the statement that, "fringe benefits are a part of, not an addition to, total compensation."

We agree that "the employee, through enforced savings, is enabled to prepare for his non-productive years while he still has earning power." (We regret that the American people seem to more and more be getting into a state of mind whereby preparation for those non-productive years becomes an enforced procedure, that they look toward some agency of government, or business, to take care of their plans for those non-productive years.)

We agree that in these modern times a competitive aspect of hiring involves such things as retirement, health insurance, and other "fringe benefits." (But here we must point out that the question in Porterville is not essentially one of a retirement plan or no retirement plan. The question is what retirement plan, and what extent of benefit.)

We agree that in principle, retirement should reduce welfare costs. (But in actual practice, over a period of the past 30 years, this has not been the actual case. Even with more and more retirement plans, welfare costs continue to go up.)

We disagree with the statement that "city employees have, in effect, been paying for a retirement plan almost three years," since this argument is based on the city's personnel classification plan, commonly known as the Kroeger Report, and since whatever the Kroeger Report has to say about retirement did not apply until last April, when the people of Porterville voted to amend the city charter to make a retirement system possible.

The Kroeger Report is not a "law" of the city; it is merely a recommendation on which the city council has for several years based its salary schedule and personnel classification. Not all city personnel have chosen to remain with the city under the city's pay schedule; those who have remained accepted the city's pay schedule in fact, without retirement provision; we assume they have given an honest day's work for an honest day's pay and there is no justification for a retroactive pay increase.

Yet, when city employees agree that "fringe benefits" are a part of their salary, they ask for a retroactive pay increase when they ask for past service in a retirement plan.

We fail to see an "odd situation" in "retiring one person with say ten years of service receiving the same monthly benefits as another who has served for thirty years."

What's odd about that? Retirement payments represent deferred payment of salary in so far as city of Porterville contribution to the plan is concerned; in the case cited one individual has accumulated more deferred payment than another.

We disagree strongly with the inference of great city wealth — a sort of money to burn idea — that is inherent in the statement, "the city has an annual budget of over a million dollars, and it is entirely feasible for the cost of retirement to come within that budget without raising taxes at all."

City Scene

(The following statement is signed by Waymond Inman, Elizabeth Green, Kenneth Leesch, Charles E. Moll and Shirley J. Gemmell, the committee of city of Porterville employees selected to meet with the city council concerning a retirement system for city employees.)

The Board of Directors of the Porterville Employees Association after a special three-hour meeting Saturday afternoon, January 13, 1962, issued the following statement:

The people of Porterville are face to face with a vital issue concerning City government — A retirement plan for City employees. The present employees, in accepting or rejecting a plan are aware of a threefold responsibility: to the community itself, to City personnel as a whole, and to future employees.

The general reasons for retirement plans are: 1. The employer, by incorporating in the compensation he pays his employees such fringe benefits as health insurance and retirement plans, is relieved of the problem of what to do about the sick and the over-aged. 2. The community is insured against having to support, by relief, or welfare funds, an ever increasing number of over-age, unemployable people. 3. The employee, through enforced savings is enabled to prepare for his non-productive years while he still has earning power.

A particular reason for Porterville having a retirement plan is that since July of 1959, when it was adopted by the City Council, the City has operated under the Kroeger Classification and Pay Plan. It is stated in the Kroeger Plan: "Salaries represent only a part of the total compensation program of the City . . . If the City wishes to continue to attract and retain competent employees they must be in a competitive position with respect to other employers in the area. We realize

PREJUDICE, POLITICS, AND "JACKIE"

Rarely do the characters and plot in a fictional setting bloom with the lifelike reality that Bob and Jan Young have achieved in ONE SMALL VOICE. Gina becomes involved in a class project in American government aimed at rousing interest in the town election of a small California town. As Chairman of the Future Citizens' Committee, Gina learns a great deal about government both clean and corrupt, and about dealing with people. The reader will gain assurance and maturity along with Gina and her friends. This is highly recommended and important reading.

THE BALLHAWKS by Gene Olson is a fresh and lively teenage sports story. When New Yorker Mike Lodge comes to coach basketball at Riverside High School, he finds himself regarded as an outsider by the small, provincial Oregon community. Mike's championing of Chinese-American Sammy Choy and Bud Grubb, son of the town ne'er-do-well, as players against the prejudice of the townspeople led by Riverside's most influential citizen gives an added dimension to this plausible and palatable basketball story.

From first hand knowledge and with access to family journals, scrapbooks, letters and photographs, Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer has written JACQUELINE BOUVIER KENNEDY. Enlarged from a series of articles published in the Ladies' Home Journal this short book presents the facts of the education and development of "Jackie" from babyhood to becoming the thirty-first First Lady of the United States. This personal portrait is illustrated with many photographs and should have popular appeal.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

TOM COFFEE, L.A., on fighting communism — "Attending meetings and reading books is not enough. In our Republic citizens can find the answer only at the polls, by electing men of ability and courage."

J. E. ST. SURE, Richmond — "The great danger in any country is for people to believe that there is anything absolute about security."

STEPHEN P. KENNEDY, ex-N. Y. police chief visiting California — "We can have the wisest of legislators, the most erudite judges, and jurors of the greatest integrity; but if the policeman is weak, then the whole structure is weak."

No Restriction On Sugar Beet Acreage

VISALIA, Jan. 18 — There will be no governmental restriction on 1962 sugar beet acreage, it was announced this week from the office of the Tulare County ASC committee. Less production than anticipated in 1961, and low beet sugar inventory the first of the year, were factors in federal decision to drop acreage restriction.

California produced 32.1 per cent of nation's fresh vegetables and melons in 1961.

MRS. HELEN ROSS HEADS EASTER SEAL DRIVE

VISALIA, Jan. 18 — Mrs. Helen A. Ross has been named Tulare county chairman for the 1962 Easter Seal campaign of the Tulare County Society for Crippled Children, headed by Miss Marie Brey, of Porterville.

Mrs. Ross, who works in the adoption unit of the Tulare County Welfare department, states that the Easter Seal drive to raise funds for care and treatment of crippled children, is planned for March 15 through April 22.

Farmers' reports on intentions for breeding of sows to farrow in the spring of 1962 indicates a three per cent increase over 1961. and seven per cent over 1960.

PIRATES CONVINCE SKEPTICS WITH 83-65 WIN OVER C.O.S.

Porterville College's tall, but previously untried Pirates thinned the ranks of doubters during the past weekend as they took command in the Central California Junior College Association basketball race with a 70-50 win over Reedley and convincing 83-65 victory over rugged COS.

In both contests the Pirates were led by jump-shooting Maurice Talbot. The 6-5 forward dropped in 24 points Friday night against Reedley and came through with 27 big points against the cross-county rival Giants. Talbot shoots well from the outside and is husky enough to be very tough under the backboards. But the wins were not one-man efforts. The Pirates have a well balanced offense. Friday night against Reedley two other Pirates scored in the double figures as lanky George Dottin tallied eleven points and tree-top-tall Paul Harris bucketed 16. Freshman Lloyd Morrison is a steady scorer who is a threat from far out. Against COS, Talbot's fine 27 point performance only slightly overshadowed Dottin's 25 points and Harris' 15. The lanky trio also turned in a fabulous rebounding job against the skyscraping Giants.

The double weekend win gives the Pirates a 3-0 record in league competition. The only other unbeaten five in league play is Allen Hancock of Santa Maria. The Bulldogs grabbed their second win against no losses Saturday night as they nipped the defending champion Fresno City College Rams 57-50 in Santa Maria. The tall Bulldogs again appear to be the team to beat in the title scramble. Height, long a trademark of the coastal five, is again in abundance as they sport 6-9 Jerry Clukey at center and a couple of 6-4 forwards in Bob Butler and Roger Guinn. Clukey and Butler are top Hancock scorers.

The Pirates will get a chance to prove themselves again Friday night as they travel to Fresno for a contest with the Fresno City College Rams. The Rams are very strong again this year despite their loss to Hancock last week. The raisin city five have good height and a couple of fine shooters in Rich Turney and Billy Hicks. A win over the Rams could add the maturity and confidence that the Pirates need to go all the way to the elague championship.

The hot and cold PUHS Panthers were frigid Friday night in Visalia as they lost a 62-49 contest to the Mt. Whitney Pioneers. The Panthers had one of their worst shooting performances of the year while the Pioneers, the pre-season choice for the Central Yosemite League championship, got good shooting in rolling to the decisive win.

High scorers for the Panthers were Cordell Camp and Lloyd Talbot with 10 points each.

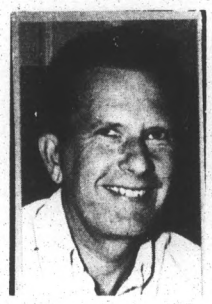
CHRISTMAS SEAL RETURN AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

VISALIA, Jan. 18 — Tulare county's 1962 Christmas Seal campaign started the New Year on an optimistic note. Judge Noel McDermott of Visalia, Christmas Seal chairman, reports contributions as of last week total $19,684. This compares with $19,018 on a comparable date in 1961. Meanwhile, reminders are in the mail this week urging persons to make their contribution for the never-ending fight to detect unknown carriers of tuberculosis.



From Daybell Nursery By John

If your garden problems seem large at times, think of the freeway landscapes at Carmel where hungry deer have just consumed a $112,000 landscaping job. According to a newspaper sent by our nurseryman father, Frank Daybell, the native deer were living on short rations and the 15,000 new and tender plants suited their appetite like Ortho-Gro on a rose bush. This was probably unconstitutional but no Carmelite would ever prosecute a deer.

Should your private estate be invaded by deer, gophers, squirrels, or just old fashioned ants, please come to our joint and see what the world of science has prepared for you. Everything can be found here from new and improved deer and rabbit repellent to gopher traps like grandma used to catch her fingers in. We're especially proud of our ant controls such as Bugshot Powder and liquid ant barrier. They not only kill ants but they make a lot of money for the company.

For the literate gardener we also have books on pruning, planting roses, growing better weeds, and vegetable gardening. This last is a newer Sunset book with lots of information related to local conditions. While it doesn't allow for hunting and fishing season, it does put your gardening on a pretty workable schedule.

Bedding plants of snaps, stocks, calendula, pansies, delphinium, cyclamen, and primrose are plantable now along with gladiolus bulbs. The newer butterfly glads are real successful so come by and try a few for late spring color.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has received these fancy turnips and mustard greens grown by Constantino G. Liakis, who has been a commercial vegetable grower in Porterville for a number of years. The head of mustard greens weighed five pounds; the turnips seven and three-quarters, seven and a half, and five pounds respectively. Mr. Liakis, who also sent vegetables to President Eisenhower, says that he wants President Kennedy to "start the New Year right by hearing about Porterville." (Farm Tribune photo)

CUTTING HORSE PEOPLE LIKE PORTERVILLE

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 18—Cutting horse owners from California, Arizona, Oregon and Nevada said they liked Porterville, and the facilities of the Rocky Hill arena, following an officially-approved Cutting Horse contest Saturday and Sunday, under sponsorship of the Orange Belt Saddle club.

Eighteen top horses competed in the contest that was approved by both the National and the Pacific Coast Cutting Horse association. Directors of the Pacific Coast association met for dinner, and a business session, at Gang Sue's Saturday night.

A muddy arena Saturday hampered performance, but by Sunday the area had dried out considerably to give better footing to the quick-moving horses.

Two-day results were: Trivio's Chick, owner and ridden by Mel Barton, of Lancaster, first on Saturday, third, Sunday; Chick Jay, owned and ridden by C. P. Honeycutt, of Maricopa, Arizona, tie for first, Sunday; Frivilous Sal, ridden by Chuck Olson and owned by the Lakim Cattle company, Phoenix, Arizona, tie for first, Sunday, tie for second, Saturday.

Sandhill Charley, owned and ridden by Slim Trent, of Fallon, Nevada, tie for second, Saturday; Red Boy, ridden by 13-year-old George Lane, and owned by Frank Lane, of Lancaster, fourth, Saturday; Star Lady, owned and ridden by Dave McGregor, of Lancaster, fourth, Sunday.

Judging the contest was Mary Harbinson, of Sacramento, a past president of the Pacific Coast Cutting Horse association. Handling the event for the Orange Belt Saddle club were Wayman and Ruth Neufield, and Dan and Delores Mahnke.

National pig crop in 1961 totalled 93.2 million head.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Copple of El Segunda were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jefford.

The Tule River Houndsmen Association held their first 1962 meeting in the Memorial building in Exeter last Friday night.

Irvan Miller, newly elected president, had charge of the meeting, which was well attended in spite of the rain. They planned on a field trial to be held Sunday, January 21st on Blue Ridge.

Friday's rainfall was .77 inches, bringing the season's total to 3.72 compared to last year's 5.20. Snow fell down as low as 3,000 feet. Camp Nelson reports 12 inches.

News Of The SPRINGVILLE COMMUNITY

By WINNIE GAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Herbert of Fresno are announcing the birth of a daughter on January 2nd, named Kerri Beth. She weighed 7 lbs, 10 ozs. She his a sister, Lucy, and a brother, Paul. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ihnen of Bakersfield. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herbert of Springville.

Private funeral services were held last Friday in the Loyd Chapel for Mrs. Hannah Frinchaboy, 91, of Porterville. She was a native of Nebraska and came to California in 1876. She lived near Tipton, then moved to Woodville and Porterville.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Rosa Sullivan, of Porterville; a son, J. L. Spinetta, of Hanford; four grandchildren; 12 great grandchildren, and four great great grandchildren. She was an aunt of Mrs. Grace Jefford of Springville. Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Van Horne on Balch Park road were Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Scheide of Van Couver, Wash., and her brother, Ike Withers of Minot, North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vincent were guests last Wednesday night of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Birchfield (former Springville residents) in Bakersfield. Sunday guests of the Vincents were their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Les Pardue and children and Miss Judy Kelly of Hanford; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Vincent and children of Big Creek and Mrs. Lorene Folks of Exeter.

Mrs. J. J. Padden, 79, of Crookson, Minn., passed away December 24th following a long illness. She was a former resident of Springville, having owned the Foothill Apartments. She made her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinyon, for 14 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinyon were visiting their daughter and family, Mrs. R. S. Gordon, in Danville, when word was received of her death. Mrs. Kinyon and her sister, Mrs. Peggy Johnson, of Walnut Creek flew to Crookson for the funeral services.

CHAPEL CHIMES

By Rev. N. J. Thompson

We worry today about the A-bomb, the H-bomb, and the C-bomb. We have every reason to be alarmed. All of these are weapons of destruction and death. Just a handful of them flung in the air could kill millions of human beings.

A religious magazine points out, though, that this worried world possesses another bomb. This weapon packs more power than any cobalt or hydrogen bomb in the arsenal of any nation. This bomb carries no poison, no horror, no death. It is loaded with life and love and peace. It can be called the E-bomb.

What is the E-bomb? It is the powerful explosive — Evangelism!

Evangelism is not a creed, cult, or ceremony, but Christ crucified on the cross. The word "evangelist" comes from the Greek meaning an angel or messenger bearing good news. If you tell others about God's power in your life, then YOU are an evangelist.

Rock and roll singer Jimmy Snow, describing how he found Christ, said, "When I rose from my knees, I felt that great load of sin gone. I just had to tell someone, so I went to my mother and told her how God had delivered me."

The reality of Jimmy's deliverance from drinking and cursing soon became obvious. He and his wife Carol were earning $300 a day as a singing team. Wealth and fame were theirs. But they soon canceled every personal appearance, to enter full-time evangelistic work, exploding the E-bomb.

The E-bomb is the good news of salvation through faith in Christ. It is the power of God to cleanse, heal, and purify. It sets men free and changes lives. It is God's holy lightning, banishing the evil darkness of sin.

Let's use this great weapon. Let's explode the E-bomb!

EVENTS LISTED FOR CALIFORNIA PORK PRODUCERS

DINUBA, Jan. 18—Melvin Liebau, Dinuba, president of the California Pork Producers association, has announced two major spring activities of importance to the Swine industry in California.

The first event of interest to swine producers is an Animal Husbandry Swine day at the University of California, college of agriculture, on the Davis campus, January 26. Program will include talks on nutrition, breeding, management, and diseases. There will also be a carcass quality demonstration and industry people will have an opportunity to see the new feed mill on the Davis campus. Dr. Hubert Heitman, of the Davis faculty is in charge of this program.

On the following day, January 27, Annual Bred Gilt Sale and Hog Grading Demonstration and Contest is scheduled at the San Joaquin County fairgrounds in Stockton. The Grading Contest is an educational activity and it is anticipated that there will be teams representng 4-H clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters from many areas of California.

The annual meeting of the California Pork Producers association will be held at Visalia, Saturday, February 17. The Tulare County Farm Bureau Swine section, the California Farm Bureau Marketing association, and the Tulare Agricultural Extension service are serving as hosts for this meeting. The Agricultural Extension Service and the College of the Sequoias are cooperating on swine feed trial studies, with results of the trials are to be presented at the meeting.

There will also be a Bred Gilt Sale held at 1:30 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Marketing Association Sale yards on Saturday, Feb. 17.

The Old Days

NO ONE would complain too much now if the old days, as shown in the above photo, could be recreated for just a little while. The above photo, dated 1915, shows flood water in Woodville, with Mrs. Selma Vossler tells us that "water from the Tule river was coming down the road two feet deep." The Woodville Commercial company store, shown here, was located on the southwest corner of the Woodville intersection on property now occupied by the San Joaquin Cotton Oil company; off to the right of the building, across the east-west road, is about where the modern Rosso's is located.

CECIL PHIPPS, of Fresno, newly-elected president of the California Wildlife Federation Inc., an organization that includes in its membership a number of sportsmen's organizations and conservation groups throughout California.

STATE SENATOR Richard J. Dolwig, left, was in Tulare county last week to discuss his announced candidacy for the office of Attorney General for the state of California. He is shown above at a Visalia meeting with Nat Bradley, Visalia attorney and chairman of the Tulare County Republican Central committee. Dolwig advocates law enforcement on "the local level" with the Attorney General coordinating law enforcement agencies of the state; tougher narcotic laws to protect the public, and better patrols at the Mexican border to curtail flow of narcotics into California; and more attention to the problem of juvenile delinquency, with emphasis on job training for teenagers who drop out of school and who, without training, are apt to become law breakers.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

A perennial legislative puzzler is whether or not changes should be made in our California divorce law. Almost every session in recent years has seen several bills proposing various amendments introduced. Many of these were technical in nature, and caused no controversy. Proposals to change the interlocutory period from the present one year between preliminary and final decrees have so far met with no success, however.

A bill to reduce the period to three months was not passed in 1961, but was referred for interim study. The Assembly committee on judiciary recently held a hearing on the subject, and received some valuable testimony.

A prominent sociologist told the committee that present law in effect puts the cart before the horse by providing that the waiting period come after the preliminary decree is granted. He expressed doubt that the one-year interlocutory period actually does prevent hasty remarriage, because persons seeking divorce in this state tend to be cautious about plunging into new marriages, anyway.

He advanced the novel recommendation that the law be amended to provide a six-month waiting period between the filing of a divorce suit by either party, and the first hearing which sets the terms of the divorce. He advised that during this period, skilled investigation of family circumstances and marrage counseling should be made mandatory. If a couple separates during this period, he pointed out, the court could issue a temporary order for support of the wife and children.

He argued that this procedure would serve better than the present one to encourage reconciliation between marital partners. However, even if no reunion were achieved during the waiting period, the system would provide a "training period" for final cutting of the marriage ties. Disputes over property and support settlements which arises before and during the preliminary court hearings under the present system do not promote reconciliations, he declared.

"The trauma of the litigation has removed any possibility of reconciliation. Adversary procedures perpetuate the hostile attitudes", he asserted. In less expensive language, the scars of legal battle kill any hope for reunion.

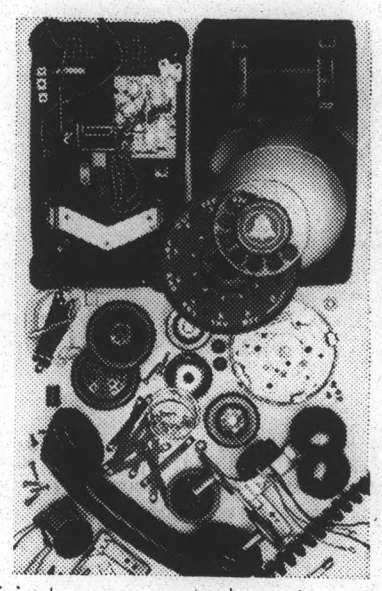
A respected superior court judge with long experience in domestic relations affairs took at least partial issue with the professor. He said his years on the bench have brought him to the conclusion that the one-year interlocutory period does serve its intended purposes. It both fosters reconciliations and discourages hasty remarriages, he believes. As supporting evidence, he cited the statement of a famous actor, whose marriage recently broke up but who was reunited with his wife during the year before the final decree, thanking Heaven that the one-year waiting period is still on the statute books.

Judge and professor were agreed that California's one-year waiting period is not much of an influence on the number of "quickie" divorces obtained in other states which require no such periods.

Successful and happy marriages are the foundation of our whole society. If we Legislators can enact improved laws to better protect and preserve them, we will be carrying out an important part of our responsibility to the general public.

WHAT'S DOING

R. C. Board, your Telephone Manager in Porterville



You wouldn't think so to look at it, but the telephone you use in Porterville is a really complex arrangement of 472 separate precision parts. Spread out, they'd cover a desk top! Yet teams of skilled people at Western Electric, manufacturer for the Bell System companies, can make a phone from scratch in just about 45 minutes.

At Western Electric's main plant some 30,000 telephones a day come off the assembly lines. This takes plenty of technical know-how. It also takes a constant search for new and more efficient processes, tools, and work methods.

The result of this teamwork: keeping up with California's and the nation's fast-growing telephone needs with high quality products that help us serve our Porterville customers better.

I've seen a number of articles lately on how to improve one's reading speed. Now that's something our Information operators are very interested in. So they can give you quick, accurate information, they've taken company Rapid Reading courses, use special indexes and cross references. Three years ago, the average time spent on a request for a telephone number was thirteen seconds longer than it is today. Learning to cut down the time it takes to give you the information you want has also made the job easier for our operators. This is another important way we have found to help give you better telephone service.

Editorial

Truth of the matter is — and anyone who has wrestled a city budget into shape knows it — there is never enough money available to cover all the items of expenditure that are desirable for operation of the city.

As examples there is a deficit and future expenditure item in city streets, amounting to between two and three million dollars, that councils have been letting slide for quite some time, but that must be met by some council in the future; there will be necessary increased expenditures in the city water department, and quite likely in the city sewer system; there will come a time soon when a second fire station will be necessary; there is still considerable city equipment that must be modernized; there is a constant demand for improvement of virtually all city properties — the airport, recreation facilities, the ball park, the city park, the library.

Invariably, at budget time, there is more demand for expenditures than the city is able to meet. City councils for a number of years now have held the line on tax rate, but to do this they have had to screen out of annual budgets items that are desirable, items for which a pretty strong case can be made. There is never enough money to go around.

So we'll say once more that any increase in city expense, such as a retirement plan, that is written into city administration on a permanent, annual basis, must be paid for. There are only three ways to get the money — increase taxes, increase cost of city services or fees, slight something else, or work out a combination of the three possibilities.

But bear in mind that costs of city government cannot constantly move upward without the city administration eventually going to the people of the community, in one way ar another, to get the necessary money.

These are simple facts of life. No glib manner of pointing to a million dollar plus budget can change those facts.

City

that some of the following recommendations will require revisions to certain Charter provisions." In the election of April, 1961, the Charter Amendment allowing the City Council to consider a retirement plan for City employees, was passed by an almost two to one vote of the people.

Under the Kroeger Plan, fringe benefits are a part of, not an addition to, total compensation. Recommendations concerning vacations, sick leave, and overtime are specifically set forth on pages 9 and 10. There is no page 11 in the Kroeger Report, but it has recently been ascertained that page 11 contained recommendations concerning retirement. Whether the page was removed before or after adoption by the City Council is unknown. Nevertheless, City Employees have been receiving salaries that are lower than they would have been had a retirement plan not been specified as a part of total compensation. City employees have in effect, therefore, been paying for a retirement plan almost three years.

Recognizing past service, acording to the actuary hired as an advisor by the present City Council, is the accepted custom when a retirement plan is started. He publicly stated that he had never heard of a plan that did not give credit for past service, the reason being that employers rarely foresee the problem until they have employees relatively close to retirement age. If past service is not recognized the employer has the odd situation later of retiring one person with say ten years of service receiving the same monthly benefits as another person who has served for thirty years. He went on to say that the solution most often used, "is to allow past service with a limitation sometimes on the number of years which will be counted, and a benefit rate often less than the benefit rate applied for future service. The combination of limitations on number of years to be counted, and the benefit rate applied, is used to set the cost of past service the employer is willing to pay."

It is impossible to say, at this time, what the cost to the City would be for a retirement plan until, or if, a definite plan is decided upon. The City has an annual budget of over a million dollars, and it is entirely feasible for the cost of retirement to come within that budget without raising taxes at all.

The residents of Porterville, the City Council, and the employees are all involved in this matter, and it is obviously the responsibility of all of us to investigate it thoroughly, with the welfare and continued growth and prosperity of the City uppermost in our minds.

Coop. Dehydrator

as production from new plantings increases.

Cost, financing, and income figures, based on 2,000 green tons, indicate that a dehydrator could be built and paid for in seven years, or less.

Working on the committee with Lombardi are: Al O'Neal, Frank Pratt, Anton Simonich, Harold Trembley, Gerald Vossler and Leland Vossler.

At present this committee plans to hire an attorney to draw by-laws of the co-operative organization, and prepare subscription agreements; banks will also be contacted relative to financing.

Members of the committee will contact individual growers, then call another general meeting to explain details of the plan.

Lombardi states that plans call for a completely modern, efficient, automatic dehydrator; he states that there is a definite need for such a plant in this area.

killed, the pheasants being left in the area after the trials ended.

Bodley states that the Success Lake area is well suited to field dog trials, and he hopes to bring in the Regional Gun Dog Championships in early March. If this is done, dogs will be competing from throughout the western states.

INCREASED COTTON ALLOTMENT ASKED

FRESNO, Jan. 18 — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has been requested to give an increase in cotton acreage allotment to compensate for any reduction in support price for 1962 or 1963. The request was conveyed in a telegram by John P. Benson of Fresno, president of the Western Cotton Growers association.

PORTERVILLE CHAPTER, California Young Farmers' gilt project continues to move along, with Bruce Anderson, a Porterville Future Farmer, recently returning a registered Hampshire gilt to the Future Farmer chapter out of a litter from the project gilt that he had previously received. Selected to receive the gilt was Dean Neufeld, who, in turn, will put a gilt back into the project out of the first litter, to "keep the wheels turning." In above photo, from left, are: Charles Fisher, president of the Porterville Young Farmers; Anderson, and Neufeld.

STATE SENATOR J. Howard Williams, who spoke Tuesday night before a capacity crowd at annual banquet of the Springville chamber of commerce; his subject dealt with trends in Sacramento. Dick Coon acted as master of ceremonies; Chamber President Wes Kutzner reported on 1961 activities; Jim Barber presented Christmas decoration awards; Ken Fox presented door prizes; Rev. Dew gave the invocation; Mrs. Dew sang "God Bless America"; Springville school orchestra, directed by Donald Knight, presented music during dinner. (Hammond Studio photo)

Spanish Dinner

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Givan, or Mrs. Hugh Monroe at $1.50 for adults, and 75c children. Tickets may also be purchased at the door that evening. Dinner will include enchiladas, salad, beans, baked corn, dessert and beverage.

Last year's dinner, and Woodville chamber banquet, provided the funds for curbing, sidewalks, flood lights, draperies, 50 folding chairs, and completion of new modern rest rooms with storage space. The club, and the chamber are completing the building for community use.

At present the building is used by the Woodville water district, Lower Tule Irrigation District, cotton gin meetings, clinics, banquets, private parties, and church activities. Also it is available to the school district, and for farm and town meetings.
